ARMED BANDITS GET $34,000 IN DARING HOLD-UP

Three Escape With Wood River, Ill., Refinery's Payroll

Wood River, Ill., Aug. 5.—(AP)—In a swift, well-organized holdup, three men, two of them armed with sub-machine guns and the third with a revolver, robbed a bank messenger of $34,000 today.

The men seized the money from Ralph Welsh, an assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Wood River, and fled in an automobile before startled eye-witnesses could raise an alarm.

The money, intended to meet refinery company payrolls, had been mailed by the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis and Chicago. Following a regular procedure, Welsh, accompanied by his father, Arthur Welsh, a guard at the bank, had gone to the Wood River post office to get the shipment.

Walsh came out the side door of the postoffice, pitched the money in three cloth bags, on the floor of his car and was about to get in when the holdup men drove alongside. They were in a black (Ford) sedan (Illinois license 115-407).

Cashier's Account

"The man in the back and the driver both had machine guns, which they pointed at me," Welsh said. "The third man, who was riding next to the driver, got out carrying a revolver and said, 'Don't you move.'"

"As he came up to me I put up my hands, but he said, 'Don't do that. Put them down.' Then he walked over to the car and poked the revolver in father's stomach and said, 'Where's the money?'"

"Father tried to hide the sacks with his feet, but the robber saw them and piked them up. One of the other men called out, 'Get the keys, too, Hamilton.' He reached in, but the keys were hard to get out of the lock and he left them, jumped back into the car and the robbers drove away."

In Indianapolis yesterday, two men, one of them armed with a sub-machine gun, made an unsuccessful attempt to rob two payroll messengers. Police there renewed a search for Floyd Hamilton and Hutton Ted Walters, bank robbers of the southwest.

Board Decides What Expenses Coroner's Office to Receive

The dispute between Dr. Kenyon B. Segner, Lee county coroner, and members of the board of supervisors, which has existed for many months, concerning the former's claims for expenses and salary, was terminated yesterday afternoon by the adoption of a resolution presented by the fees and salaries committee. The afternoon session of the board centered largely on the matter of the coroner's office.

The action of the board provides that the county will pay the necessary office expense and for office supplies, not including equipment, and the necessary telegraphic and telephone charges. The resolution further provides that Lee county will not be liable for the payment of autopsy fees or stenographers' fees, except in cases where there is evidence of criminality in connection with the death being investigated by the coroner, and only when the state's attorney of the county shall require the preservation of the testimony taken at such inquest.

The judiciary committee recommended the allowance of blind wages to two applicants, John W. Teeter and Mrs. Esther Baker, both of Dixon, in which the board concurred.

WALGREEN ESTATE IS RANSACKED BY COLONY PATIENTS

Loot Is Buried on the State Hospital's Grounds

Three employees at the Walgreen estate at Hazelwood took turns perched in a tree on the Dixon state hospital grounds, watching a spot in the ravine near the river where loot which was taken from the Walgreen residence last Saturday afternoon, was buried, until they succeeded in apprehending three institution patients, who are now in the county jail. Sunday morning Clarence Craig, custodian of Hazelwood notified Sheriff Ward Miller that the Walgreen house had been entered and thoroughly ransacked and several articles were missing.

Sheriff Miller spent several hours Sunday investigating and succeeded in obtaining finger prints from articles handled by the marauders, who ransacked several rooms. Suspecting the act was committed by state hospital patients, the sheriff and Custodian Craig conferred with Dr. Warren G. Murray Sunday and he offered the assistance of his staff of employees in an effort to apprehend the culprits.

Hospital Buildings Entered
It also developed that two buildings at the state hospital had been entered early last week and property of employees stolen. Monday morning the "plant" where the stolen property was buried, was located on the institution property. At Sheriff Miller's suggestion, the spot was left undisturbed and three employees at Hazelwood, Clarence Craig, Archie Donoho and Clyde Taylor worked relief watches, perched in a tree, with the thermometer hovering about the 95 degree mark, until their efforts were rewarded.

Wednesday evening, three patients from the institution went to the location and began digging up the loot when Clyde Taylor, who was on watch, appeared from the perch in a nearby tree, and succeeded in apprehending them. They were taken to the office of Dr. Murray, where they were questioned briefly and then delivered to Sheriff Miller at the county jail. George Szarski, Stanley Kubow and Sylvester Binek are being held while the investigation is being completed.

During the absence of employees from the Walgreen home Saturday afternoon, entrance was gained through a basement window, and several rooms were thoroughly ransacked and articles strewn about on the floors. The trio apparently spent some time in the house and selected articles which met their fancy, but in so doing created considerable damage. Sunday morning, some of the missing articles were found near the river and Monday morning the "plant" was discovered on the state hospital property.

Maytag Plant Today Resumes Operations

Newton, Iowa, Aug. 5.—(AP)—George Umbreit, vice president of the Maytag washing machine company, said 1,400 men, almost a full force, reported for work at the factory today for the first full day of operations under martial law.

Umbreit said the 1,400 men included more than 100 foremen. The men entered the plant under the watchful eyes of 60 national guardsmen. Among those returning to work, Umbreit said, was Wilbert Allison, president of the C. I. O. union which yesterday advised its striking members to return to work.

The company shipped out three carloads of newly-made washing machines yesterday and expects to ship out 10 or 12 carloads today, Umbreit said.

The men silently entered the plant, mostly in single file. Production units soon were in operation as in any ordinary day of production. Only the guardsmen at sentry posts, in machine gun emplacements and in scout cars remained to remind this community of the three-months strike tie-up.

RUSSIA SUBMITS TERMS OF PEACE TO END DISPUTE

Soviet's Stand Leaves Next Move Up to the Japanese

Moscow, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Soviet Russia is ready to grant Japan peace on the frontier with Manchoukio, if the Japanese discontinue attacks upon Soviet territory and withdraw their troops.

Russia then would be ready to start diplomatic discussions on the establishment of frontier posts, but only if Japan recognizes the border established by maps attached to the Russian treaty with China on June 26, 1906.

This stand left the next move to Japan.

It was Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinoff's reply to Japanese proposals for mutual withdrawal of troops in the battle zone, at the juncture of Russian Siberia, Japanese Korea and Manchoukio, and for diplomatic negotiation to settle the boundary on the basis of documents possessed by both parties.

Mamoru Shigemitsu presented the Japanese suggestions for a truce yesterday, and received the Russian reply to transmit to his government today.

Hot Trouble Started
The critical situation grew from the Japanese allegation that Russian troops forfeited Changkufeng hill in the disputed area July 11.

Japan protested the hill was Manchoukio territory. The Soviet government replied brusquely that the territory was Russian, established by the 1886 treaty maps of which Japan professes ignorance.

Following upon the diplomatic exchange, sharp fighting began and since Sunday it has been almost continuous. (Tokyo dispatches said Soviet artillery was shelling Japanese positions about every half-hour today, and that Japan had made a new protest to the Soviet charge d'affaires.)

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs
Writer.

New York, Aug. 5.—Japan's appeal to Soviet Russia for peace in their warfare at the junction of the Manchoukio-Siberian-Korea border is good news, but not unexpected.

It's good news because it may spike a possible World War.

It's not unexpected because the wise men of the east have made it clear that the Japanese scarcely can hope to wage war successfully against China and Russia at the same time.

Even now the Mikado's war-machine in China is encountering mighty tough going, and the Japanese people are hard-pressed to find the wherewithal to keep it running.

Cost of War.
All of which sums up to this:—war with Russia might easily cost Japan the great gains made thus far in the conquest of China.

That would be like losing Aladdin's lamp and the vast treasures it controlled. Japan has overrun about a million square miles, including Manchoukio. This great area is one-third the size of continental United States, with a population of 235,000,000—nearly twice that of our country.

Within this territory are natural resources beyond the avarice of a Midas. Within it, too, are many of the Chinese industries.

It is more or less the complete answer to Japan's urge for expansion and a self-sufficiency to make her independent of the outside world.

COAL ASSN. PROTESTS
Washington, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The National Coal Association told tariff experts today importation of fuel oil ought to be stopped, to halt "irreparable injury" to the bituminous coal industry.

Ferocious Grizzly Spread Terror Through Wealthy Pittsburgh Area

Pittsburgh, Aug. 5.—(AP)—A ferocious grizzly bear that broke from a steel-barred cage in the Highland Park zoo and spread terror through the adjoining residential district was shot and killed near a reservoir in the park five hours after her escape today.

The carcass was taken to the zoo, in the center of the wooded, 400-acre park on the banks of the Allegheny river, 10 miles from the downtown business section of Pittsburgh.

A few minutes before she was cornered by searchers at the reservoir, the bear had been sighted by a park workman in a clump of bushes near the boundary of the park. He ran to the zoo. The bear ambled off in the other direction.

The 350-pound bear was killed there as many wealthy residents of the Highland Park district, center of large, wooded estates, drove up the park gates in limousines to watch the hunt.

Children called in from the streets by anxious parents had ventured out after the first fright and jostled with hundreds of other persons for advantageous positions along the park fence.

Thirty policemen, armed with rifles and directed in the search by police radio, headed the search.

Fletcher said Young was wanted for the kidnap-murder of 17-year-old Betty Schnalder near St. Charles, S. D., July 20; for kidnapping and attacking a young girl taken from Louisville, Ky., to French Lick, Ind., on July 12; and for robbery, car theft and jail breaking at Lebanon, Pa., three months ago.

Watkins said a police circular sent out by Sheriff George T. Allison of Hutchinson, Kas., said Young also was wanted there for kidnapping and raping a young girl on June 15.

CORRIGAN GRINS AND THE WORLD GRINS WITH HIM

Sweltering Thousands Greet Flyer Today In New York

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Cool and brash, young Douglas Corrigan rode triumphantly up lower Broadway today, grinning infectiously as the temperature rose and sweltering thousands cheered his progress, indifferent to the oppressive heat.

All the enthusiasm for his mad solo flight from New York to Dublin was let loose in a continuous roar that dinned upon his ears from the Battery to City Hall.

The tons of torn paper and ticker tape fell, the perspiring crowds yelled and shoved and Corrigan grinned, sitting on the back of an open car with James M. McGurran, chairman of Mayor La Guardia's reception committee, and the mayor's secretary, Stanley Howe.

In the second car rode Corrigan's brother, Harry, of Baltimore, and his wife, Anita. In the next car were Walter and Steve Reich, friends who helped Corrigan service his plane at Roosevelt field in the week Howard Hughes made his round-the-world flight.

He Just Grins
The imperturbable Corrigan grinned, just as he had grinned earlier in his hotel suite when he insisted anew he had made an honest mistake in flying to Ireland instead of to California.

He grinned and the crowds roared, trying to picture him alone, thinking thoughts in the dark mist the time his old crate was thundering through the clouds to soar above the shores where the galleys of the Lochlanns, prows a bloody red, beached in quest of prey.

Or crossing the Glades of Thomead, the dark mutinous waters of the Shannon, seeing women below filling their creels with turf, and the thrush and the linnet, the curlews and the lark far below him as he sped toward Baldonnel.

From the moment Corrigan was escorted from his hotel by police and detectives who made themselves a flying wedge through the jammed lobby and sidewalk, the roars of the crowds were in the flier's ears.

Dense Crowds
Around the hotel McAlpin in the Broadway midtown area there were thousands. The crowd was so dense Corrigan virtually was lifted by the police and placed in the automobile for the ride down the west side express highway to the Battery and the start of the parade.

And on Lower Broadway it was the same tremendous thing, a multitude of shouting, screaming men and women, bent on expending the energy stored up through all of yesterday's wait while the Manhattan, bearing their hero back from Europe, moved slowly through a fog to a late arrival.

Through all of his triumphal passage along the street where New York parades heroes, he grinned.

And Mayor Grins
The ovation to Corrigan at City Hall lasted a full two minutes. Corrigan faced the crowd grinning. Mayor LaGuardia gave him the freedom of the city and spoke pleasantly and lightly on the "prepared impulsiveness of your grand flight."

Corrigan grinned, and when the mayor finally had finished and the crowd was roaring again, shouting "Corrigan! Corrigan!" the flier walked to the speaker's stand and stood there, hands clasped, then working nervously while the spectators' cries continued.

He could say little, he remarked, for the mayor's speech had well nigh "floored him." But he could say to the mayor, "That you, too, have your compass set in a certain direction and you'll get there if you want to."

And then with a note of shyness, he added:
"If you know what I mean."

Apparently the crowd knew, for it exploded with laughter. The mayor looked surprised, then he, too, grinned.

LAST CHAPTER TOLD IN STORY OF ROCHELLE

Town Was Incorporated by Act of Assembly in February, 1861

CHAPTER VII

The village of Lane, forerunner of Rochelle, was incorporated by act of the general assembly on February 22, 1861. In 1865-66 a bill was passed changing the name of the village to Rochelle, and on April 10, 1872, occurred its first election under the city charter authorizing municipal organization.

Rochelle has developed into one of the most prosperous cities in the Rock river valley. It has a population of nearly four thousand people and it is the center of a fertile region of farm lands and orchards. The town has adequate passenger and freight service over three lines of railroads as well as over the Lincoln highway.

The leading industries of Rochelle are based on the productions of its tributary territory. One of the largest sheep feeding yards in the state is located at this point.

Rochelle Industries

The Caron spinning mills manufacture all kinds of knitting yarns and was established at Rochelle during the World War.

The Rochelle canneries, drawing their vegetable products from more than 6,000 acres of neighboring truck farms, are known everywhere and have given the city the name of being the largest individual pea packing town in the United States.

The Rochelle Seed company puts forth purebred seed oats, corn and wheat by the ton, and just outside of town there is another firm which owns one of the most noted herds of pure and aristocratic blood in the country.

The city and surrounding country are fortunate in having large and valuable deposits of gravel to draw upon for the construction of highways.

Oldest Enterprise

One of the oldest of the local industries and one of the most noticeable is the manufacture of gasoline motors or locomotives for coal and metal mines. The business was founded by George Whitcomb in 1878, and is the oldest industry of continuous operation in the city.

The enterprise and forward look of the people of Rochelle is seen in many improvements that are constantly going on in the city, its fine churches, homes, schools and excellent banks.

With this chapter is concluded the history of Rochelle, Illinois.

OLDSTERS TAKE OVER

Chester, O.—(AP)—Chester's new playground for children is doing double duty this summer. When the children's curfew sounds at 9 P. M. each evening, it is the signal for many adults to take over the swings, slides and trapeze equipment in the park.

Do you know anyone who is never satisfied with things as they are and is constantly resorting to his or her imagination to concoct strange situations just to be thinking of something different? Well the Professor does and this particular fellow makes a practice of approaching a person and saying something like this, "Say what if this or that were true, then what would be true or so-and-so?" Of course it is purely a waste of time to even discuss such a thing with a person like that but occasionally an interesting thought does come up. Here is one—if one-fourth of twenty were three, what would one-third of ten be?

Answer to Yesterday's Twizzler

No, the automobile dealer's profit was not thirty dollars. It was twenty dollars. Oh, did you say twenty?

MAYBE IT'S A TABLE—BUT ANYWAY, IT SPROUTS

Pahokee, Fla.—(AP)—J. R. Miller doesn't know whether to use a piece of furniture he has in his living room as a table or as an ornamental shrub.

Miller looked at the table two days after he had purchased it at Ocala and discovered leaves sprouting from the legs. The sprouts, some two inches long, have pushed their way through the varnish.

CHURCH OF GOD CONFERENCE

The business session of the day (Aug. 3) was taken up with a roundtable discussion of home missionary work. President L. E. Conner of Dixon, Ill., who for the past seven years has occupied his present office, presided. The program had been arranged and was directed by the general secretary of the Church of God.

"There never was a time when the country was in greater need of sane, Bible-centered evangelism than at the present hour," asserted Rev. James A. Patrick of Ashtabula, Ohio, chairman of the Board of Evangelism. "Churches which came into being a half century or more ago through the efforts of pioneer evangelists are dwindling in number everywhere. A church that takes no interest in the spiritual condition of anyone beyond the limits of its own community is sure to go down," Rev. Patrick insisted.

"Few localities ask for an evangelist to visit them in these days," he continued, "but recognizing the decline in religious interest, we should put forth a definite effort to discover unchurched communities, and there are many, and assume full responsibility for an evangelistic campaign."

Rev. Sydney Magaw of Tippacanoe, Ohio, and an active and successful evangelist of the denomination, addressed the conference on "The Qualifications of an Evangelist." He declared that in addition to the usual educational preparation, the evangelist must possess a deep recognition of the spiritual needs of men and an ability to lead them both intellectually into a fuller and richer life of service.

Rev. C. E. Randall of Fonthill, Ontario, gave an address on "Pastoral Evangelism," in which he declared that it was the duty of the pastor to inspire his members with a fervent zeal to reach their neighbors and friends without the church with the power and comfort to be found only within it.

Rev. Randall has just completed a tour of inspection of the Churches of God throughout the west, where he represented the general board of the denomination.

"Pastoral Work with Reference to Evangelism" was discussed by Rev. M. W. Lyon, pastor of the Golden Rule Church of God of Cleveland, Ohio. He pointed out the necessity of maintaining a constant oversight of those who had been brought into the church by the evangelist in order that that might not only be held to the church but also built up into full Christian characters.

Perhaps the most important matter that was introduced to the conference Wednesday afternoon, was contained in a motion made by the secretary, G. E. Marsh, which, if passed upon favorably by the gathering, will result in the establishment by the Church of God of a correspondence school of religious service. The proposed plan is designed to meet the needs of young men and women who wish to prepare themselves for various branches of religious work but who cannot take the time required to attend a resident school.

The speaker this evening (Aug. 3) is Rev. S. J. Lindsay of Tempe, Arizona. He is an evangelist of wide experience and one of the most able ministers of the denomination.

The biographer of Samuel Johnson, James Boswell, imitated his master in loose, untidy clothes and mannerisms.

Says FDR Would Not Win for Third Term

Washington, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Senator Burke (D-Neb) asserted that President Roosevelt would be defeated if he sought a third term.

A foe of the President's court reorganization plan, Burke told reporters he did not think any man could succeed in such an effort.

"The president," he added, "probably could come as close as anybody but he would be defeated. I personally would oppose anyone seeking a third term under any circumstances."

Asked what he thought would happen if the president sought a third term, Burke commented: "It would split the Democratic party into a thousand pieces. It would break it asunder."

The Nebraskan said he would reintroduce in congress his resolution providing for a constitutional amendment limiting a president to a single term of six years.

HE JUST TOLD THEM TO WASH ON DIFFERENT DAYS

Findlay, O.—(AP)—Police Officer Wayne Ethell used the wisdom of King Solomon if not the king's method of arbitrating a wash day dispute between two housewives over the use of a clothesline.

One woman accused the other of taking her clothes off the line and throwing them in the dirt. Officer Ethell advised them to do their washing on different days.

William Leisher of Mendota, president of the Illinois State Baseball league, has notified all managers that Walton has filed a protest against the Dixon Knacks as a result of last Sunday's game.

Manager Bert Cummings said this morning that "all who saw the game and those of the Knacks connected with the team are trying to figure out what grounds Walton has on which to base a protest."

Tonight Manager Cummings, Hi Emmert, Ole Prestegard, Francis Henry and Umpire Fred Tieman will attend a meeting of the league at Mendota.

Prepare For Crowd
At the present time the interest of the Knacks is in the game with West Brooklyn on Sunday. Preparations are being made to handle the largest crowd that has ever attended a sporting event at Reynolds field. The park board is erecting a fence down the first and third base lines to keep the crowd away from the playing field and to prevent anyone from getting hit with a batted ball.

As there are only two more games in the league, this game means a lot to both clubs. West Brooklyn must win to stay in first place and the Knacks will be trying for a tie for second place. Manager Cummings will start the same lineup that he used in the Walton game with the exception of Windmiller who will be behind the plate in place of Mulcahy.

90 BOY SCOUTS ATTENDED CAMP THIS SUMMER
Ninety Boy Scouts from Lee county spent a total of 98 weeks in Scout camp and Camp Delavan during the past camp season.

These scouts passed a total of 200 tests in the various advancement requirements and merit badge field. Fifteen of these were the swimming requirements for first class scouts, 20 were swimming, life saving, rowing or canoeing merit badge requirements and the remainder were scattered among the many other second class, first class and merit badge requirements.

Troop 89 of Dixon had more scouts in camp than any other single troop of the entire Blackhawk Area council. Twenty-seven or 71 per cent of its members and the Scoutmaster Kenneth Abbott spent the first week there. Two of its members, Orval Gearhart and Robert Sanborn were on the junior camp staff for one or two weeks following their camping period and did very creditable work.

Troop 72 of Dixon had 10, or 62 per cent, of its members attend camp for one week or more; Troop

WHAT IS IT THAT WE PLANNED THAT WAY?

"Yes, we are on our way back; not just by pure chance, not by a mere turn of a wheel in the cycle; we are coming back soundly because we planned it that way and don't let anybody tell you differently."

Speaking with more or less authority, Senator H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire comments:

"Well, the New Deal and its leader should be equally willing to take the responsibility for the circumstances in which we now find ourselves, because the whole picture is a part of the same planning, and they planned it that way."

Senator Bridges uses a page of type not too fine, in the Boston Transcript, to answer the question, What is it that "we planned that way?"

Noting that the down-swing was arrested and the upturn started in the United States in the summer of 1932, before Franklin Roosevelt was elected, Bridges traces the trend of business through the NRA period, observing the upturn when the supreme court declared the law unconstitutional, and asking whether we ever did, in fact, recover in any true sense. Did we really recover "par," he asks, "or did the New Deal set up an artificial 'par' and claim victory when we reach that? He gives some fundamental definitions in the following language:

"For 150 years it has been a basic concept in America that recovery achieves its goal only when we regain the level of prosperity which would have prevailed had our progress not been interrupted by depression years. When we set any lower level as 'par' for recovery, we are committing our nation to a philosophy of limitation, to the acceptance of a static economic order. Those who count us recovered when we reach the production level of 1923-25—which New Dealers are prone to do—are cheating our economic potentialities. They are saying, in effect, that it is impossible to make up lost ground and therefore the thing to do is to set up a lesser goal and say that recovery is achieved when we reach that goal."

Proceeding on that definition and that reasoning, Senator Bridges cites dates and production figures and asserts that "in other words, our industrial production as late as four months ago was 41 percent less than it would have been had we continued at the 1923-28 progress rate."

He quotes Dr. Sumner H. Slichter of Harvard: "Despite the fact that consumer purchasing power was outrunning production, the country is plunged into a depression."

That doesn't coincide with the Roosevelt assertion that production was out-running purchasing power. Take your choice on which one is mostly likely to make a statistical and disinterested statement.

The London Economist is quoted: "On the score of the income available to consumers for the purchase of goods there is nothing to justify a recession of production and everything to justify further sound expansion."

In sides with the Harvard economist. If these things were true, then what happened to us? Senator Bridges itemizes four counts against the New Deal as follows:

1. By legislation that was economically unsound the New Deal raised the price for labor to artificial levels. When soundly based, high wage rates are a mark of economic progress. No person who has an intelligent grasp of economic fundamentals desires anything less than the highest wage rates the economic structure can sustain. But when wage rates are raised so rapidly that they outstrip the growth in efficiency and productivity, they inevitably increase the costs of production with the result that rising prices of goods sooner or later curtail production and thus create unemployment.

2. The New Deal created conditions that affected labor efficiency adversely and these, too, added to the costs of production.

3. The New Deal brought about an increase in labor disputes. This has interfered with the regularity of production and stunted its volume. (In 1929 there were 921 strikes with loss of 5,352,000 man hours. In 1937 there were 4533 strikes with loss of 28,117,000 man hours.)

4. The New Deal dried up capital investments.

Concluding that phase of his article, Senator Bridges says:

"What evidence is needed to awaken us to the realization that the New Deal has wrought havoc to our economy? We have not achieved the recovery attained in other industrial nations. We have seen our capacity to recover crippled and maimed. And yet we are asked to keep faith in the future."

"The picture of where we are isn't a pretty one. To sum up the results of the New Deal:

"1. Under the New Deal, the pace of our alleged 'recovery' has been a halting and a limping stagger—a series of advances and retreats—and not a steady progress."

"2. Under the New Deal, we never have recovered to the level of our pre-depression prosperity. In February, 1938, production was 41 percent less than it would be if we had continued the 1923-1928 rate of progress. Political soothsayers would like us to believe that we gain the victory of full recovery when we reach the industrial production level of 1923-1925, but we know full well that that is cheating 'par.'"

3. Not only have we not reached during the New Deal years our true par for recovery, but our recovery has lagged behind that of other nations. America plodding with the trailers in the march of industrial nations back to prosperity!"

In conclusion: "The world knows that our program of government action under the New Deal has failed; but the New Deal gives no indication that it knows. Or is it false pride that strips the New Deal of the courage to abandon the paths along which it has led us?"

"What is ahead of us?" "The New Deal talks of an economy of abundance, but its record to date is the sorry story of the maiming of a nation, which, through 150 years, built up a strength that entitles it to lead and not lag in the march of nations to an economy of abundance. Is there, in all honesty, anything in that record to give us faith that under the New Deal abundance will ever be realized?"

WASHINGTON—If Cordell Hull doesn't get stubborn about it, there may be some hope that before the summer is over, the State Department may lift the arms embargo on Spain.

There is still a powerful Franco clique in the State Department, but the less biased boys believe they never can live down their present reputation unless they rectify their mistake on Spain.

Another important factor is that Catholic sentiment has changed so drastically. Some vigorous pro-Franco Catholics now are either silent or against him.

One evidence of this was the renomination of Representative Jerry O'Connell of Montana. O'Connell comes from a district which is 70 per cent Catholic. His opponents, inspired by Burt Wheeler, ran all the changes on his sympathy for Loyalist Spain. They even called him the "Congressman from Barcelona" because of his trip to Spain last year.

Despite all this, he came through the primary with flying colors.

Another sign of changed sentiment is the Catholic magazine "Commonweal," which now urges Catholics to keep absolutely aloof from the Spanish conflict.

Finally, the dispute between Mussolini and the Pope, over Fascist racial theories, plus the fact that Mussolini has been Franco's chief backer, has veered Catholic opinion away from the Spanish Insurgents.

All this could not help but have an effect upon the President. Last spring Catholic sentiment, the summer's primaries and Cordell Hull's recalcitrance shield him away from lifting the embargo. He agreed that he had the power to lift it without authorization from Congress, but he didn't want to buck both his State Department and Catholic opposition.

No word comes from the President's advisers that he is much more open minded.

RED HUNTERS
Representative Martin Dies of Texas, chairman of the House committee investigating un-American activities, ran into unexpected character when he secretly proposed to San Francisco police that they dig up some Reds and radical labor leaders for him to put on the grid.

Dies has been rounding up a list of investigation prospects by making quiet inquiries of various police officials for good headline material.

In Southern California, he got excellent undercover police cooperation. Captain "Red" Hines of the Los Angeles "Red squad" recommended a number of likely witnesses. But Frank Lucey, head of the San Francisco "Red squad," refused to do any stonking.

"You tell us who you want put on the pan," Dies asked Lucey, "and we'll subpoena them."

"Oh, no you don't," retorted Lucey; "you do your own dirty work. We are police, not stool pigeons. We are putting the finger on no one. If you want the names of Reds and labor leaders with which to put on a headline circus you go to the Chamber of Commerce and Industrial Association. They have a big list of people they don't like."

NO ICICLES

One of the last things Joe Kennedy did before resigning as chairman of the Maritime Commission to become Ambassador to Great Britain was to quarrel with Secretary Frances Perkins over the government's labor policy toward seamen.

Kennedy wanted to establish a system of compulsory arbitration modeled after that in the railroad industry. Miss Perkins contended that marine labor relations were not yet ready for such a step.

The New Deal big-guns exchanged some sharp words over the issue—which, incidentally, Miss Perkins won when Congress, under pressure of the maritime unions, turned down Kennedy's plan.

In view of this background, Washington newsmen were much amused when Miss Perkins told them that while in London recently she had tea and dined with Kennedy.

"Bet a defrosting machine was needed to keep the icicles off the tea cups," a reporter grinned.

Miss Perkins insisted that everything was very friendly.

"Well, did you ask Ambassador Kennedy how he liked his new job?" asked another newsmen.

"Oh, no!" said Miss Perkins suavely, "but we all know that whatever task Mr. Kennedy undertakes, the job always likes him."

Note: Despite this cream-puffing Miss Perkins took a sly left-handed slap at Kennedy by heaping full-some praise on the American crews of the liners on which she traveled. As Maritime Commission Chairman, Kennedy severely criticized American seamen as rude and when he visited the United States in June he sailed on foreign ships.

MAJOR TESTS OF ADMINISTRATION STILL UNDECIDED

Coming Primaries to Show if F.D.R. Controls Party Voters

Washington, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The 1938 primaries reach the half-way point in Kentucky tomorrow, but most of the major tests of Roosevelt administration strength lie ahead.

Although support of the president has been an issue in several of the Democratic senatorial contests already decided, the Barkley-Chandler race in Kentucky is the first in which Roosevelt appealed directly for renomination of an individual senator.

If his candidate—Senate Leader Alben W. Barkley—is the victor administration lieutenants will hail the result of a personal triumph for the president. If Barkley loses, anti-Roosevelt men can be expected to term his defeat a slap at Roosevelt, even though Governor Chandler has voiced approval of the administration program.

Whether Roosevelt will go as far in any of the remaining races as he did in Kentucky is a question intriguing politicians here.

Eyes on Georgia

The answer may come late next week when the president speaks in Georgia. Senator George, seeking another term, is out of favor with the White House because he opposed the court bill and other Roosevelt proposals. Some Democratic workers believe Roosevelt will urge nomination of Lawrence Camp, Federal District Attorney in Atlanta.

There are politicians here who think the chief executive will make a speech in Maryland in favor of Representative David J. Lewis, who is after the seat of Senator Millard Tydings. The latter has criticized many administration measures.

Some consider it a possibility too, that the president will stop in South Carolina to drop a hint that he does not favor the renomination of Senator Ed Smith, conservative chairman of the agriculture committee.

OHIO'S "FAMILY FIGHTS"

Columbus, O., Aug. 5.—(AP)—A series of bitter "family fights" today sparked Ohio campaigning for Tuesday's primary election. National and state legislative issues were overshadowed by charges of an attempt to "buy" the Republican U. S. senatorial nomination and that John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization seeks to control the state government.

Robert A. Taft, accused by his opponent, Supreme Court Judge Arthur H. Day, of trying to "buy" the senatorial nomination, was embroiled with the U. S. Senate campaign contributions.

Gov. Martin L. Davey, whose National Guard troops virtually "broke" last summer's CIO strike against "Little Steel" in Ohio, charged the CIO wants to gain control in Ohio through Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati, Democratic National Committeeman and Davey's opponent for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

New Deal Secondary

The New Deal issue among Democrats was secondary, being confined generally to congressional contests.

U. S. Senator Robert J. Bulkley and former Gov. George White were waging a friendly fight for the Democratic senatorial nomination "on principles." Bulkley was a staunch supporter of the Roosevelt administration's New Deal proposals. White described himself as a "Yes-No" New Dealer and not a "Yes-But" man.

The other Republican ticket leader, John W. Bricker, former Ohio Attorney General, was opposed for the gubernatorial nomination. He was the 1936 nominee, but lost the election to Davey, who is completing his second term.

There was one state-wide Democratic congressional contest on the New Deal issue. Former Congressman Stephen M. Young, seeking one of two Representative-at-Large seats, directed his campaign against incumbent Harold G. Mosier, charging Mosier voted like a Republican.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The Democratic faction headed by E. H. Crump, National Committeeman, and Kenneth D. McKellar.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

A fascinating pastime with Albert Edward Wiggam, S. Sc. Author of "THE MARKS OF A CLEAR MIND"

"The keenest anguish known to human nature is the pain of a new idea," (Bagehot). We hope this column brings you pain.

Answer to Question No. 1—

1. No. Men, for ages, were no-mads—hunting, fishing and fighting for a living—and it was only when they began to domesticate plants and animals and develop agriculture that the notion that each man should own the land he cultivated and lived on ever occurred to anyone. "Land hunger" is a result of nurture, not nature.

Answer to Question No. 3—

2. This can be argued endlessly but in my belief the development of great cities has brought to men a kind of cosmic loneliness—a feeling of helplessness in a great world that is beyond human control—certainly beyond any individual's control. True, we can now eat breakfast in New York and dinner in Los Angeles, but I do not think we can control our lives as much as we formerly could, and, after all, speed does not necessarily bring happiness. Furthermore our pleasures are nearly all made for us—I think there was far more happiness in the old-fashioned taffy pulling and barn dance than in the modern night club.

Answer to Question No. 2—

3. Since I have trained a good many men and women in public speaking I find it almost universal that women's voices are pitched higher than they should be naturally. They tend much more than men to be nervous when talking—even socially—and therefore clutch their throats and thus pitch their voices too high to be pleasing. Relax, ladies, relax, and talk naturally. When you do your voices are the sweetest sounds that ever fell upon masculine ears in this raucous world.

(Copyright, John F. Dille)

senior United States Senator, won a smashing victory over Governor Gordon Browning and junior Senator George L. Berry in Thursday's statewide primary, incomplete returns showed today.

Prentice Cooper, 43-year-old Shelbyville attorney and former state commander of the American Legion, was nominated for governor over Browning, who two years ago received the greatest majority ever given a gubernatorial candidate in this state. In the 1936 primary the governor had Crump's support.

Senator Berry bowed to A. Tom Stewart of Winchester, a district Attorney General who expressed 100 per cent indorsement of President Roosevelt's policies. The New Deal, however, was not an issue.

Both Cooper and Stewart had crump's blessing, as did Mayor W. D. Hudson of Clarksville, nominated for railroad and public utilities commissioner over the incumbent, W. H. Turner.

BYRNS' SON Wins

Joseph W. Byrns, Jr., son of the late speaker of the national House of Representatives, won nomination to the congressional seat his father held for more than a quarter of a century, defeating Rep. Richard M. Atkinson, the only one of the state's nine congressmen to be unseated.

Republicans will nominate an independent to oppose the Democratic nominee for the governorship.

Despite the bitterness of the campaign, which included a threat by the governor to send National Guardsmen to Memphis and a Federal injunction against such action, the balloting went off quietly.

A man was stabbed to death at Englewood, but Deputy Sheriff Tom Tallent said this had no connection with the election.

In Memphis, R. S. McCann, associated with Governor Browning in an effort to cut down the registration lists, was jailed without bond on five misdemeanor charges. Sheriff Guy Joyner said McCann's arrest was due to his "interference" at a polling place.

MILLER'S TEAM DOES IT AGAIN

Wildcats Hold Bert Cummings' Team to a Shut-Out

The Wildcats (or Old Timers) took the Knacks again last night in a game at Reynolds field. This time the score was more decisive than the first game and the count was 5 to 0.

The Knacks got only three hits off Smokey Joe Miller, while the Wildcats banged out nine off Kupper who pitched for the Knacks. Miller was given fine support with the Old Timers pulling to double the score. The support behind Kupper was ragged throughout the game. George Lebre banged out a single and double. McConahay drove out two hits and Don Bush hit a home run for the Wildcats.

For the Knacks Bus Carlson was credited with a double when the ball took a bad bounce past McConahay in leftfield.

Game Delayed.
The game was delayed in starting as both teams were not at full strength due to the absence of several players.

The lineup for the Knacks was as follows: Windmiller, c; Kupper, p; O. Prestegard, 1b; Downs, 2b; Kelly, Art Carlson, ss; Bus Carlson, 3b; Mulcahy, lf; Martin, Hargrave, cf; Emmert, rf.

For the Wildcats: Wolford, c; Miller, p; Bush, Hasselberg, 1b; L. Emmert, 2b; Lessner, ss; Lebre, 3b; McConahay, lf; Cox, Emmert, cf; Devine, rf.

Today it was stated that it is doubtful if there will be another twilight game as the Wildcats have won both games of a three game series, but it is rumored that the Knacks are preparing for a challenge for a Sunday game after their regular season. This will be a grudge affair to "get even" with the Wildcats—Old Timers, to you.

FORMER OPPONENT OF JOE LOUIS IS TO FIGHT TONIGHT

Hollywood, Calif., Aug. 5.—(AP)—A clever old man who fought 360 professional bouts in 15 years and won most of them—Maxie Rosenbloom—meets clever young Bob Pastor in a 10-round bout at Gilmore stadium tonight.

A near capacity crowd of 30,000 persons was predicted for the match, which the 34-year-old, bald-headed Rosenbloom insists will be his last ring appearance.

For Rosenbloom, always the possessor of a flare for theatricals in the ring and out, plans to give himself entirely to histrionics hereafter. He has been playing character roles in pictures and is an entertainer at a night club bearing his name.

The odds were 10 to 8 that Pastor would win. There were many who thought the 23-year-old New Yorker, whose chief bid to fame is the fact he stayed the limit against Joe Louis, current heavyweight champion, might score one of the few knockouts recorded against slapsie Maxie.

Rosenbloom will hold a weight edge of approximately seven pounds, going into the ring at a pound 190.

There are approximately 89,097 motion picture theaters in the world. Of this total, 18.9 per cent are in the United States.

STANDINGS IN JUNIOR LEGION RACE TIGHTENED

The standings in the Junior Legion city league race were tightened somewhat Wednesday night when the White Sox defeated the first place Indians by a score of 7 to 3.

Both teams played good baseball, but it was just one of those games when the boys on the White Sox team were swinging hard at everything that looked good.

The All-Star team will journey to Sterling Sunday afternoon to play the Legion team in that city. The management has two games booked to be played at Reynolds field, Sunday, August 14, the Lawson Transfer team of Rockford comes to town. They trimmed the local lads at Rockford 5 to 3 but the boys say it can't be done again. Sunday, August 21, the Sterling team will play a return game in Dixon. Fans are urged to attend these games and watch players who may become the future diamond stars.

Dorothy Bundy Is Victim in Tennis Quarter-Finals

East Hampton, N. Y., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Slightly flabbergasted by the results of the quarter-final firing, the Maidstone club's annual women's invitation tennis tournament field moved into the semi-finals today with the top-seeded Dorothy Bundy and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, seeded No. 2, on the sidelines.

These two were victims of Dorothy Workman of Los Angeles and Barbara Winslow of Hollywood, respectively, in the quarter-finals of the singles yesterday.

Joining Miss Winslow and Miss Workman in the semi-finals were two other players only slightly better known, Helen Pedersen of Stamford, Conn., and Virginia Wolfenden, the current western sensation from San Francisco. Miss Workman meets Miss Pedersen and Miss Winslow plays Miss Wolfenden.

Allison and Parker In Canada Semifinal

Toronto, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Heavily favored to reach the finals, Wilmer Allison of San Antonio, and Frankie Parker of Beverly Hills, Calif., encounter two of Canada's best, Bobby Murray and Ross Wilson, in the semi-finals of the Canadian tennis championship today.

Murray, in the quarter-final yesterday, eliminated young Carl Fisher of Detroit, the Michigan state champion. Allison trimmed Laird Watt, of Montreal.

Wilson won easily, beating Doug Cameron of Vancouver, but Parker was pushed to three sets before defeating Gordon Robinson, little known Canadian from Stamford, Ont.

FANFARE

By DON DANIELSON

NEW CATCHER

Peeks, recently released by the Medusa squad, has signed up to play with the Ploverman outfit. He really has the catcher's chatter down pat and is doing the ball club a lot of good.

FIRST, SECOND, THIRD

Now that Oscar Witzleb has made and installed the fine key-stone for home plate at the Airport diamond, it should be someone's duty to see that something appears on first, second and third bases besides errors.

CALLING ALL FANS

Sheriff Ward Miller and Paul Potts will do the announcing over the public address system at Reynolds field Sunday afternoon when all West Brooklyn leaves the village to see the Knacks-West Brooklyn game at 2:30.

SAD JOURNEY

The I. N. U. softball club went over to Ashton for a crack at the neighbor kids, but it was a sad journey. The local lads came home with a stinging shut out, 11 to 0. Barnhart led the hurling for the gas, light and power team and Flanagan was behind the plate. Eckhardt and Vogel were the batteries for Ashton. I. N. U. connected for 4 hits, but nothing happened due to several errors. Barnhart gave the winners 5 hits during the 9 inning affair.

GET YOUR VOTES IN

Now is the time for all good fans to come to the aid of their favorites. The polls in the Telegraph's city softball All-Stars balloting will be closed sometime next week—probably about Friday. There are still many ballots out which have not been received. Sign them and turn them in at Hazel Stevens' Airport Grill or the Telegraph office now! Another report on the voting will be given soon. To date over 250 votes have been turned in.

CRIBBAGE LESSONS

William F. "Bill" Hogan, former postmaster, and now bank receiver with headquarters at Mt. Carroll, was home last week-end and modestly dropped a hint that when the cribbage season formally opens at the fire hall, he will gladly report to give valuable pointers to his former citizens on the fine points of the game. He did not include the Franklin Grove cribbers who toward the end of the season last spring, humiliated the firemen in several inter-city contests.

WINDMILLER JOINS

A new burst of power has been added to the lineup of the Telegraph's softball team with Windmiller now doing the receiving job. Windy has a mighty pegging arm and runners don't find it as easy to steal bases anymore. Windy belongs in the lineup of the Knacks hardball club where he tops the list as king of the swatters. Now if the Telegraph would get a little noise and chatter while they play and really put the ole ginger into the game they might advance in the league standings. They are a mighty quiet bunch, Wells.

LEAGUE STANDINGS

The standings in the Junior Legion Baseball race show the following positions to date:

	GP	W	L	T
Indians	9	6	1	2
Pirates	6	3	1	2
Tigers	6	3	3	0
White Sox	6	3	2	1
Cubs	7	2	5	0
Cardinals	6	0	5	1

Vince DiMaggio, Bees — His homer drove in three runs to beat Pirates, 4-3.

Zeke Bonura, Senators — Hit homer, two doubles and single, driving in four runs in 10-4 win over Braves.

YANKS ENJOYING GAUDIEST WHIRL OF THE SEASON

Tangle with Cleveland Indians for Top of American League

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Another of those "turning points" that have had this season swinging along in a groove somewhere between a merry-go-round and a streak of lightning, pops up in both major leagues today.

The New York Yankees, enjoying their gaudiest western whirl of the year, tangle with Cleveland's persistent Indians in a series for the American League leadership. And the New York Giants, doddering along 5½ games off the National League pace, make a last-ditch stand in their own Polo Grounds against the front running Pirates of Pittsburgh.

The heat is all on the Indians and Giants. Anything less than a sweep in the week-end campaigning will do either little good.

By virtue of hanging an 8-4 beating on the Detroit Tigers yesterday while the Tribe's tilt with the Red Sox was rained out, the Yanks invade Cleveland with a 2½ game buge. The Giants were blanked 6-0 by the Chicago Cubs, and, although the Bucs lost 4-3 to the Boston Bees, Bill Terry's Terriers were left seven games back on the all-important losing side.

If Indians Lose

If the Indians should lose only one game to the Yanks, Gehrig & Company will go back east in front—and when the world champions are on the surface side of the Alleghenies, bouncing them out of the league lead is about as easy as trying to pass a fire engine on its way to work.

In the "crooshal" American League set, both teams are nursing physical ailments. For the Yanks big Rufus the Red Ruffing is suffering from an ailing knee and Belting Bill Dickey had to retire from yesterday's game with a slightly banged up leg. The Tribe isn't exactly cheering about the sore arm bothering its pitching ace Johnny Allen.

As a result, Manager Joe McCarthy, holding the upper hand anyway, is gambling with Bump Hadley, who's something less than a dependable winner, in today's opener against young Bobby Feller.

In fact, both of the three game series sets are opening with pitching surprises. The Giants, coated with whitewash yesterday for the second time in three days and the 12th time this season, are lifting the suspension on Cliff Melton, the stringbean southpaw, who will start against the Pirates. Pie Traynor's hired hands are bringing Rookie Bob Klinger off the hospital list for his first outing since he discovered he couldn't pitch off a sore arm back on July 24.

National's Business

The victories for the Cubs and Bees comprised the only business transacted in the National League yesterday. The Cub conquest was accomplished through a totally unexpected six-hit flinging job by Lefty Larry French, while Deacon Danny MacFayden did the honors for the Bees.

Beaten twice by the Athletics on Wednesday, the Chicago White Sox reversed the proceedings yesterday. Thornton Lee's six hitter took an 8-2 decision in the opener, and the whole club ganged up for a 17-hit attack for a 7-3 edge in the nightcap. Harry Kelley's steady hurling and Zeke Bonura's four hits gave the Senators an easy 10-4 win over the Browns.

Harry Kipke Now Leads in Voting For Stars' Coach

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Harry Kipke, formerly of the University of Michigan, today led the national poll to select a coach for the college all-star football team, which will play the pro champion Washington Redskins here Aug. 31.

Kipke had a total of 3,026,366 points in the poll which thus far has attracted 5,173,332 ballots. More than 136,000 points behind was Alvin (Bo) McMillin of Indiana, who moved ahead of Raymond (Ducky) Pond of Yale. Pond was only 10,106 behind McMillin while Notre Dame's Elmer Layden trailed the easterner by another 20,000 points.

Bradley Tech's A. J. Robertson was fifth with a 1,697,233 total. Pete Baughn of Wabash was tenth with 797,893.

Although the African curiosity, Welwitschia Mirabilis, is a tree it never reaches a height of more than one foot.

BOBBY RIGGS IS AGAINST FIELD IN SEMI-FINALS

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 5.—(AP)—It's Bobby Riggs against the field today as the semifinals round of the 48th annual Meadow Club invitation tennis tournament gets under way.

Riggs, one of tennis' real "loners" has designs on this tourney and, incidentally, the No. 2 spot on the Davis Cup team. Today he must beat Frank Kovacs, the lanky youngster from Oakland, Calif., to enter the finals against the winner of the Don McNeill-Sidney Wood match. Yesterday Riggs defeated Hal Surface, Kansas City, Mo.

McNeill is the only surprise in the round. The Oklahoma City boy is unseeded but yesterday he beat big, easy going Charles Hare of England, 6-3, 6-4.

Wood scored one of the tourney's outstanding victories yesterday when he whipped Bryan (Bittsy) Grant, the stouthearted Atlantan, in straight sets, 7-5, 8-6.

Kovacs, Riggs' perennial foe, was good and bad against Joe Hunt of Los Angeles, as he won 6-4, 7-5.

Four teams reached the doubles semi-finals. Wood and Hunt defeated McNeill and Surface; Ernie Sutter of New Orleans and Gilbert Hunt of Washington downed Riggs and Grant, and Frank Guernsey, Jr., of Orlando, Fla., and Russell Bobbitt, of Atlanta, defeated Gardner Mulloy and George Toley, of Miami. Kovacs and Bobby Harman of Berkeley, Calif., completed the round of four by topping Martin Buxby and Charles Harris, of Miami.

They face Wood and Joe Hunt today while Bobbitt and Guernsey meet Sutter and Gilbert Hunt.

BASEBALL GETS TRANSFORMATION FROM McPHAIL

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The young man boning up on his baseball history 10 years from now likely will find the name of Leland Stanford MacPhail plastered all over the pages. The snappy dresser is doing more to baseball than the average fan realizes now.

The student a decade hence will learn that the game was invented by Abner Doubleday in 1839 and given a transformation by Larry MacPhail 99 years later after a terrific tussle with the old guard.

The student will be mildly surprised to learn there was a time when big league ball was played exclusively in the hot afternoons and there was absolutely no extra-added entertainment, like foot races, pre-game band concerts and fireworks displays.

He will wonder how the old guard could have been so stupid as to have opposed the red-haired live-wire in his efforts to rejuvenate the pastime and make lots of money for all the magnates, some of whom hadn't turned a profit in a coon's age.

And don't think that MacPhail isn't being fought. The Brooklyn, under his talented aegis, have drawn 153,298 customers to five night games against Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Boston, Chicago and St. Louis. That means the Dodgers are paying off that fat mortgage and will have a bundle of money to spend for good players next season.

Yet the Giants still won't give them a tumble after dark. When MacPhail asked Bill Terry the other day if he hadn't changed his mind about giving the game a few thrills, the Giants boss retorted he wasn't managing a semi-pro team, or words to that general effect.

On the Side

Bits of Gossip of Sports Picked Up By AP Writer

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Brand new spirit of Cub team has thrilled New Yorkers. You had to be at the Polo Grounds yesterday to get it first hand. When beaming old Gabby Hartnett poled that long one into the stands every man on the square was on his feet and outside the dugout waiting to welcome Gabby who is 100 per cent with all hands. If Phil Wrigley had been there he probably would have said to himself, "How long has this been going on?"

Corrigan and his old sewing machine are the big news of the moment, but it might be worth mentioning that the best you can get out of Amosong now is 13 to 5 with most of the gamblers holding out for 12 to 5.

Time something was done about Mace Browne of the Pirates—A "day" or something. So far the Bucs have played 69 home games and old Mace has been in 33 of 'em. The way those Boston Bees win games on nothing has the baseball world taking a dive. Give 'em three runs and they'll pop a double header any old day. Which brings to mind that Deacon Danny MacFayden has won six of his ten victories by one margin. By the way, what's become of Joe Louis?

Today's tall one: (courtesy of Colonel Dameron Williams of Gastonia, N. C.) A team down in Gastonia county, North Carolina, has a pitcher who is 50 per cent cross-eyed. One eye looks straight ahead and the other slants off at a complete right angle with a sort of Westward Ho! gleam in it.

In other words, the guy (who is a right hander) can start the batter in the face and keep a glimmer on his base all the same time.

Question is what would an umpire who takes his balks seriously, do if the pitcher, while eyeing the batter with his right eye, suddenly whips the ball to first picking off the runner which same he is looking at with his left orb? The best answer will get a copy of "Gone With the Wind" autographed by your's truly.

Zeke Bonura's popper, who is a rich banana merchant in New Orleans sends Zeke a century note every time he homers. Lou McPhail, who is under contract to the St. Paul Dispatch, is going to town as a baseball baron. He's business manager of the St. Paul Saints—his team is a pennant contender and Lou has St. Paul, smallest town in the loop, leading the league in attendance.

Nice going, Butch! (P. S. And he got Babe Gansel, his field manager from Minneapolis, which is what hurts mostly there.) Paul Dean is about set for another go in the majors.

Ball players say the heat around New York is worse this year than anywhere else in the majors. Gabby Hartnett caught No. 61 yesterday but must be back there in 39 of the Cubs next 60 to set a record of catching 100 or more games in a single season for 13 years in the big show. What did we tell you more than a month ago about Stan Hack being the best third baseman in the majors? Well, the New York sheets are writing him up as such right now.

ATTEMPTING 144 HOLES OF GOLF FOR BIG STAKES

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(AP)—J. Smith Ferebee, young LaSalle street investment broker, set out over four courses today for one of the nation's richest golf stakes—$2500 and an additional half interest in a $30,000 Virginia plantation.

At the crack of dawn, Ferebee smacked a ball down the fairway of the Olympia Fields course, scene of the recent Chicago open tournament, and started his marathon play. During the 1

NEW OPINIONS GIVE FIGHTER THE SHORT END
 New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The fight game has seen nothing in years like the sudden reversal of opinion that makes Lou Ambers a curly wolf with long claws and gives Henry Armstrong very much the short end of the stick when it comes to comparing them for their bout for Lou's lightweight crown.

The fine Italian hand of Michael Strauss Jacobs, the promoter, may be behind all this but again it may be just the evening-up process. Prior to this when Lou was getting ready for a big fight the air was filled with dire predictions such as "why, he'll be moldered."

Now, as he reads himself for one of the toughest men in the business, the boys, from Benny Leonard to the smallest prelin fighter, have decided he is going to pull a real upset and beat Little Perpetual Motion at the Polo Grounds Wednesday night.

Certain of the better minds hold out against this, Armstrong sticks to the theory he shares with Professor Albert Einstein, Smushy Jackson and other noted scientists. Stripped of technical verbiage it is: "I will knock this guy stiff in anywhere from seven to ten rounds."

The truth remains that Ambers never has looked better than out at Madame Bey's in Summit, N. J., these last two weeks.

Henry the Hammer has encountered one or two annoying mishaps in his training. He has a cut lip and a cut cheek and he has to wear a mask in training that makes him look like Boris Karloff in reel six.

Equipoise, Famous Race Horse, Dead
 Lexington, Ky., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Equipoise, which blazed a golden trail in seven years of campaigning on American race tracks, is dead.

The C. V. Whitney horse, second to Sun Beau as the greatest money winner in turf history, died last night on Whitney's Blue Grass farm near here after a two days illness. An autopsy was scheduled today.

In 51 starts the chestnut son of Pennant-Swining by Brookmist, finished in the money 43 times, winning 29 races and earning $338,610. Sun Beau won $376,744.

"Ekky" also held the world's record for the mile, running it in 1:34 2-5, June 30, 1932, at Arlington Park.

His greatest years were in 1930 and 1932. As a juvenile he won eight races in 16 starts and $136,855. As a four year old he captured ten of his 14 starts and won $107,375.

Equipoise lost a chance to pass Sun Beau's money mark when he bowed a tendon in the 1935 Santa Anita handicap, finishing seventh.

He was retired to stud after that race and his first get now are two years old. Among them are Equilibrium and Otrra, which have turned in victories.

Hendaye, France (at the Spanish Front), Aug. 5.—(AP)—Government dispatches reported today that General Jose Maja's militiamen were within rifle range of the insurgent headquarters in the city of Albarracin, northwest of Teruel.

Such an advance would place the Spanish government troops in the very heart of mountains which control the entire western flank of Generalissimo Franco's eastern front.

MERCURY BACK ON CLIMB AFTER A SHORT RELIEF

Several Deaths Are Reported Due to Heat Wave

By The Associated Press
 Great areas of the United States continued to swelter today in the feverish grip of a moisture-laden heat wave.

Several deaths and numerous prostrations were reported as temperatures resumed their relentless climb after a night cooled in some sections by rain.

Seven deaths were attributed to the heat in New Jersey alone. Two occurred in Washington, D. C., before a heavy rainstorm brought relief from oppressive temperatures.

New York City's millions steamed in humidity of 98 percent, two degrees below the saturation point, as the day's work started. Later the humidity dropped but the temperature boiled up through the 80's.

Scattered rainfall was reported in Maryland, Minnesota, Idaho, and Indiana. A downpour in Louisville sent the temperature tumbling from 91 to 74 degrees early last night, but continued warm weather was forecast for today.

Kansas City, where the temperature has risen above 90 every day except one since July 22, expected a maximum of 100 degrees.

The day began with readings of 80 degrees or more in Omaha, St. Louis and Philadelphia, among other cities.

CHICAGO HAD RAIN
 Chicago, Aug. 5.—(AP)—A heavy rain fell in Chicago for more than 30 minutes today and brought relief at least temporarily from sweltering temperatures. Although the weather bureau reported a substantial drop in temperature readings, Forecaster H. A. Downs said he expected the sun to break through the clouds and send the official thermometer up to 90 degrees.

The Chicago rainfall was preceded by a dust storm that darkened the skies.

Forecasters reported showers fell throughout most of the state but brought only temporary respite from the heat.

More showers were predicted for the northwestern section of the state today, and in the eastern and southern portions tonight and tomorrow. Higher temperatures were forecast for tonight in the extreme southeast and extreme east-central parts.

TAXATION AND INDUSTRY
 IF FREE industry is to survive, profits must be sufficient to meet taxes, wages, interest on bonds, and a fair income on the investments of shareholders.

Taxes MUST be paid. If the earnings of a company are not sufficient to pay its taxes, the government may take its assets, even to the extent of destroying the company, throwing its workers out of jobs, and wiping out the value of the securities held by investors.

The prosperity of a nation depends upon the purchasing power of its people. Excessive taxation seriously reduces the purchasing power of millions of thrifty citizens, investors and workers, who pay the bulk of the taxes.

Extravagant governmental spending may stimulate business temporarily, but a depressing reaction is certain to follow, with a constantly mounting debt to be paid by ever increasing taxation.

The power to tax is the power to destroy. Through burdensome taxation the government may destroy all free industry, which means the virtual destruction of the thrifty middle class, the savers and investors of America. This would further increase the number of dependents and cut off their support by drying up the sources of taxation from which relief funds come. (Investor America.)

Model Farm Display At Illinois' Fair
 Washington, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The agriculture department announced today it would send a carload of educational displays illustrating operation of a model farm and farm home to the Illinois state fair at Springfield, Ill., August 13 to 21.

It said the displays would illustrate farm home improvement, food production for home consumption, benefits to be derived from a dairy herd and crop control through the agricultural adjustment administration program.

JAPS' ADVANCE ALONG YANGTZE IS SLOWED DOWN
 Shanghai, Aug. 5.—(AP)—After 355 days of fighting in which Japanese advanced up the Yangtze river at an average of a mile and a quarter daily, the invaders' offensive seems to have slowed to a yardage basis.

Japanese warships concentrated their efforts today on trying to sweep mines from the river above Kiukiang. Yangtze port only 135 miles below Hankow. They also shelled Chinese defenses on the Yangtze's south bank, above Kiukiang.

The bombardments were preludes to Japanese infantry attacks which, it was reported, were repulsed at the foot of Shamaoshan or Summer Hat mountain.

The Chinese maintained that they had thwarted an attempted Japanese landing at Wucheng, on Lake Poyang, 50 miles south of Kiukiang, while Chinese troops counter-attacked 10 miles south of Kiukiang along the railroad between that city and Nanchang, the Chinese air base.

Japanese units on the north bank of the Yangtze were reported mired by Yangtze floods.

Japanese and foreign police established precautionary patrols and barricaded Shanghai against possible outbreaks August 13, anniversary of the start of major Chinese-Japanese hostilities in Shanghai.

Negroes, Posing as Police, Seize Girl, Beat and Rape Her

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Miss Lorraine Terry, 18, was beaten and attacked, police said, by three negroes early today in a south side park, where she had stopped her automobile to permit her escort to drive.

Robert Everts, 22, who was riding with Miss Terry, told police the negroes posing as policemen, seized his companion as she stepped from the machine. He was left in the car and drove to a restaurant to call police.

They found Miss Terry a half-hour later wandering in a dazed condition a half-mile from the scene of the attack. Police said she told them she had been taken near a lagoon in the park and was beaten and attacked by the two men.

Ashton News of the Day

By Mrs. W. H. Yenerich, Phone 119

Mrs. Harry Granger of Stockton returned to her home this morning after visiting her mother, Mrs. Addie Barlow of Amboy, and her sisters, Mrs. Fred J. Kersten of this place and Mrs. Robert Johnson of LaPorte, Ind.

Mrs. Katie J. Hart accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hart, daughter, Rosemary and son Wayne, and Mrs. Clarence Hart's sister, Mrs. A. E. Turek of St. Louis on a motor trip to California. They left yesterday morning and expect to be away about three weeks. In California they will visit with relatives and en route home will stop at Yellowstone National park and make a short visit in Colorado.

A deal was consummated last week whereby Harold Godfrey and Harold B. Champlain of Chana are now the proprietors of the Ford garage known as the Ashton Motor Sales. The new owners took over the management on Monday of this week and solicit the patronage of the people of this community.

The ice cream social held on Wednesday evening and sponsored by the Park Board and the Conservation department of the Ashton Woman's club was a real success. The social was well patronized even beyond the expectations of those in charge and the proceeds of the same will be used for the maintenance and improvement of Griffith park.

About a dozen members of the Woman's club were present at the village board meeting last Monday evening and after pointing out the need of the park and of the many activities which are being held there, were assured of some support from the village. The council expects to install some electric lights in the park and promised to assist in keeping the weeds and grass mowed down. Thus with the fund raised at the social and the assistance of the village board Ashton should have a park which they will be proud of. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar C. Shippee have donated a strip of land adjoining the park and a deed of the same was presented to the council.

George F. Schafer has returned from a stay in Iowa during which time he visited his children and other relatives at Dyars and Garrison, Ia., his brother Jacob at Waverly, his sister, Mrs. Lena Dilcher at Cedar Falls and relatives of Mrs. Schafer's at Thompson, Iowa. Mr. Schafer was away about nine weeks.

Strike Halts Milk Deliveries in Illinois Capital City

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Most householders bought their milk supplies over the counter today as a combination strike and lockout halted milk deliveries of Springfield's major dairies for the second day.

Only one leading dairy maintained regular deliveries. Union drivers, affiliated with an American Federation of Labor local, struck for wage increases and a year's contract at one plant yesterday and six other dairies removed their trucks from the streets.

Gus Long, union agent, said he was hopeful negotiations would resume today. Dairies and stores were selling milk on a cash and carry basis.

Fight Bacterial Wilt in Alfalfa

Washington, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The government is using alfalfa from Turkistan to overcome bacterial wilt which is destroying increasing quantities of alfalfa in the United States.

Laboratory tests by the department of agriculture show that a hybrid developed from the wilt-resisting Turkistan alfalfa and domestic alfalfa virtually is immune to the bacterial wilt. Laboratories have been set up in 40 states to test various strains of hybrids to determine how they behave in various climates.

H. L. Westover, senior agronomist of the agriculture department, said it would be a year or more before the results of the tests in the various states would be known.

Bacterial wilt was especially heavy this year in Kansas, Nebraska, Utah, Oregon, Idaho, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois. It also was found in Missouri, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Mississippi and Texas.

Among the Todas of Hindustan, if the horns of a buffalo curve upwards, it may be milked for village use; if they curve downwards, its milk may be taken only by priests for keeping in the dairy temple, since the animal is considered sacred.

Uncle Sam Finishing Up World's Biggest Earth-Filled Dam

As Fort Peck Dam across the Missouri river in northeastern Montana nears completion the thing about the great public works project that impresses the visitor is the vastness of the job the government is wading up. The picture above shows the project, largest earth-filled dam ever built, stretching for nearly four miles across the rolling valley of the Missouri. The main fill will be 8500 feet across and will rise 231 feet above the river bed. Seen in the center of the photo are the openings to the four diversion tunnels that will carry the normal flow of water around the dam and on down the river after the reservoir fills up to form a lake 175 miles long and nearly 15 miles wide in some places. The railroad spurs seen in the picture are part of the 57 miles of track used to carry supplies.

LOVE ON THE RANGE

BY NELSON C. RYE

Chapter 31

QUESTION MARKS

They were just out of rifle range when Windy, via two wheels swung a corner and put the car on the smooth, wide macadam of the state highway. Ankrum saw him turn his head to voice a question. "Keep your damn eyes on the road or we'll both wake up in hell!"

Windy's head jerked front again and Ankrum said more softly: "Straight for the ranch, Rafterford'll probably follow, so keep 'er wide open an' watch what you're doin'. We've got a pretty fair start. He won't be able to commandeer a machine right off, so we're that much to the good—see that we don't lose our lead."

"What's he up to, anyhow?" "He's after my hide. He's the gent—after 'em, anyways—that's been tryin' to bust the Rafter T. Old grudge's still workin' on him, likely. Got a new inducement too. Some railroad's figurin' to lay track between El Paso and Amarillo. Have to cross the Rafter T. Rafterford wants to cash in."

Windy whistled. "So that's what it's all about. This business sure has had me fightin' my hat. Best thing for you right now is to get clear outta the country. Rafterford'll be after you sure as Gawd makes little apples! He can hate like a Injun!"

"I'm a pretty good hater, myself."

Ankrum relapsed into silence. Talking was a strain on the vocal chords at the pace they were traveling.

One thing was certain, he thought; regardless of how many different factions were trying to break Trone and get the Rafter T. Rafterford certainly was one! There was no longer any doubt in his mind about it. Rafterford was doing his damndest—by hook or crook he was set on getting the ranch. And wanted Lee thrown in!

Claydell? Well, Claydell might also be striving to possess himself of Trone's domain, but what was his motive? Claydell was a big rancher—and a politician—one of the big men in this country. It would be a mighty risk for him to dabble in this business; a much greater risk than was Rafterford's, since he had more to lose than Rafterford.

Claydell was suave—a cool customer. If he went after something, as Rafterford was going after the Rafter T, his chances of success would be much greater than would Rafterford's, Ankrum thought. For Claydell was a thinker; he had a keener mind and knew how to use it.

If Claydell—checked by a sudden notion, Ankrum's thoughts stopped there. No man, he'd abruptly realized, could be in a better position to start Trone on the down-grade than could Claydell—a trusted friend.

Four-Square And Upright

Lee had told him of many little things the boss of Swinging J had done to help her father at various times; the man, according to Lee, was four-square and upright.

He's met such prodigies of virtue before. Usually if one dug deep enough—Ankrum softly swore. Claydell was top-hand stuff; there was no sense nor fairness in letting Rafterford's charges and insinuations fill him with suspicious of the man. Why at one time and another, so the boys had told him, Lee and Claydell had been spoken of as a pair who'd soon hitch up an' travel in double harness.

Ankrum grimaced. Why, he was old enough to be her father! Well, almost, anyway.

Yet he had to admit that as a sutor Claydell would be bound to be attractive. Like Rafterford, the fellow was magnetic, likeable; a good catch for any woman. He was successful in his business, he held good prospects for the future. And the fierce vitality of his dark and lean-carved face—As a friend, Claydell would be in a strategic position to bring about Trone's downfall. Ankrum scowled. Those insinuations of Rafterford's. He could not get them out of mind.

He had thought when they'd stepped from the sheriff's office that this shove against Rafter T was over. He'd bluffed Rafterford to the wall, forced him to step out of office. By all the rules of tradition Rafterford should now be hunting himself a hole.

But he wasn't. He'd got his teeth in Rafter T now and wasn't aiming to let go till death grabbed him by the ankle. And even then, the burly ex-sheriff would likely do some powerful kicking!

Ankrum snorted. "He's stubborn enough to hang on till hell freezes an' then try an' skate across the ice! But he's out in the open now, he won't have the law to back him up."

"Who yuh talkin' 'bout?" yelled Windy.

"Rafterford. Hey! Keep your eyes on the road!"

"I'll bet he's mad enough to chaw the sights off a six-gun! He won't be layin' down again."

"This thing ain't over yet," Ankrum grinned as he remembered that these had been Rafterford's words. "We're goin' to have to hire more men an' cartridges. Now that this business is in the open it'll be shoot first an' ask questions later an' hell for the guy that ain't lookin' in! It may make Tonto Basin look like a picnic 'fore we shake Rafterford loose. Now Trone's out of the way an' he got a taste of blood, he'll throw the hooks to Rafter T hard. We're goin' to play hell with Trone's bank account."

"Not much we ain't," snapped Windy. "There ain't no Trone bank account—bunch of damned coyotes cleaned the bank plumb out today!"

"What!" Ankrum half rose from his seat. "I said it. Lee tol' me tonight right after I brung the ol' man in. That's what she was goin' to town for—Rafterford sent her word."

Ankrum sank back heavily in his seat. Here was a blow beneath the robbery just coincidence—it happened at much too bad a time for him! No need to wonder was this Rafter T, not to have been planned deliberately. This robbery bore the mark of a more subtle hand than Rafterford's heavy paw. This was the balanced stroke one might expect of having emanated from a mind like Claydell's.

No Motive

One thing only kept Ankrum from considering the cold suave boss of Swinging J as the chief menace. He could find no apparent motive strong enough to lure or force the man into risking all that he now had. He could find nothing which the man might possibly gain that would be commensurate with his losses should he lose.

To be sure, Rafterford had claimed to have found that thing which Claydell was after. But had the former sheriff actually made such a discovery, or was this but another of his smoke screens designed to further Ankrum's belief in the rancher's possible guilt?

The devil of it was that so much might be hanging on the issue. And upon his correctly gauging it. If Rafterford alone was responsible for the calamities descending so steadily upon the Trones, things would indeed be sufficiently bad. But if Claydell, too, was having a hand in them, one might as well admit that Rafter T was licked. He and the three hands might possibly hold off Rafterford and his unofficial posse if it came to an open fight—leastwise, as long as their supply of ammunition held out. But Ankrum and Trone's punches could not fight off the whole damned county!

Ankrum's chin sank momentarily forward upon his chest. It was hard, he told himself, bitter hard to know what a fix Lee Trone was in and to realize at the same time that he could do nothing toward alleviating matters.

Then abruptly his chin came up and out. His grim jaws squeezed hard together, causing the muscles beneath his tawny skin to stand forth like stiffened ropes. He could not successfully combat the united forces of this country—but he could make a damned good try!

Rafterford, when he had left the Rafter T with Betty Struthers that afternoon, had not gone directly back to town as he had informed Trone he intended doing. He had gone first to the Swinging J. Claydell had him badly worried. This, coupled with the humiliation he had suffered before the Trones at Ankrum's hands, had put the man in a vicious temper. He denounced the golden girl for a scheming helcat, a double-crosser. She had reminded him that he had no business calling anyone a doublecrosser after the way he had treated her. Accordingly, when they of them could have been described reached Claydell's ranch, neither as being in a jovial mood.

They dismounted before the porch. Claydell met them at the door.

"You came to apologize, perhap' for the accusations with which I connected me with Drea'n's death?"

With an effort Rafterford ironed the scowl from his features and essayed an answering smile. "Yeah," he said. "I've discovered that it was that Streeter bird who blowed out Drea'n's light. Miss Struthers, here, saw him fire the shot."

"Well, that's something," Claydell's tone was non-committal. "Have you arrested him yet?"

"Not yet. But I will soon's I gather me a posse."

"Posse? To arrest on puncher?" he drawled.

Giggles Turned to Tears by Sentence

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Connie Jordan, 18, and her sister, Gene, 21, stopped giggling and wept copiously when Judge Oscar Caplan sentenced them to 30 days in the house of correction for their capers with a gentleman acquaintance.

Arthur Stayart, 45, who encountered the sisters at a bus stop and gave them a lift in his car, complained they tried to rob him. Stayart said he "got awful mad" when they told him to take off his trousers. He caused their arrest on petty theft charges.

DIXON MAN GRATEFUL FOR NEW ICE REFRIGERATOR

Distilled Water Ice Co.,
532 E. River St.,
Dixon, Ill.

Dear Sirs:

We wish to thank you for the Vitulaire that was awarded us. We are finding it much more satisfactory than we expected an ice refrigerator could be. It keeps food in good condition without absorbing taste or odor from their food. It is not necessary to wrap things in waxed paper to keep them from drying out. Not the least of its good points are the crystal clear ice cubes. We are "sold" on its superior performance. It has so many points in which it excels that it is now our choice of any refrigerator on the market.

Yours truly,

JESSE WHITEBREAD.

828 Chestnut Ave.

You, too, can have one of these modern air conditioned ice refrigerators for as little as $1 down and $1 weekly.
